

LaTeX Limericks

Connor Fleischman

September 4, 2024

There once was a coder named Connor
Who learned C++ with great honor
With C++ under his belt
He could code what he felt
And his projects grew ever stronger.

Debugging in C++ is God damn dreary
Errors are thrown so mysteriously
It's hard to tell
But all is well
Thanks to a Google query :)

Why oh why C++
I put my faith in you
With all my hope and all my time
I wish you could just compile, one fing time!

I hope you like these limericks
They were quite fun to write
But now it time to wish you well
And settle down for a sweet good night.